Following breakfast, we drive to the base of the volcano and begin the climb up to the top of Cerro Negro Volcano. There will be a chance to look into the mouth of this active volcano and enjoy the spectacular views before beginning a much quicker and exciting decent. Sitting or standing on sand boards are the quickest way down, but just walking down the sand slopes is also exhilarating. From here we return to León for lunch. The plan for the afternoon is a short drive to the Pacific coast for an afternoon on the beach. Total duration of climbing and sand boarding 4 hours.

This morning we sea kayak through these isletas and enjoy a unique bird watching experience. From the forest canopy we'll have a bird's eye view of the huge ciebas, mountain cedars, and guyabones trees that make up the shade for the plantation below. After receiving an in-depth safety talk and being fitted with harnesses and gloves, the adventure begins. Traveling between platforms along zip lines give us the rare opportunity of viewing the world as the monkeys and birds do. Afterwards we continue south to Isla Ometepe. We have a one-hour ferry ride to the island, and then we mount our bikes for the first time.
